CUSHING WINS.

He Knocks Out Denny Gallagher in Five Rounds.

A Desperate Battle in a Private Parlor.

The Boston Boy Londs Off Gamely in the First and Second Rounds, But Goes to the Wall When the Troy Man Gets His Blood Up - Interrupted by Women's Screams - Gallagher Put to Sleep in the Fifth Round by a Hot Right-Hander.

The much-talked-of prize fight between Mike Cushing, of Troy, and Denny Gallagher, of Boston, that was postponed three times since last week, was successfully fought at an early hour this morning without any interference from the police, Thirty of the most intimate club friends of the men were given the tip to meet at an uptown hotel last night, from which they were conveyed in coaches to the battle ground, that was situated in the parlor of a private house on one of the lonely roads in Fordham, where everything was in readiness for for the affray, and where the men were sleeping soundly before meeting.

The members of the party on their arrival at once made a rush for the select positions to witness the battle.

Mike proved himself by winning the fight to be a clever and game young light-weight, having fought one of the gamest fights on record with Jack Hopper on April 25 of last year, when he fought twenty-two of the thirty-two rounds with a broken hand and arm. He also won the light-weight championship ty-two rounds with a broken hand and arm. He also won the light-weight championship while an amateur in 1884.

Gallagher is new at the business, but as game as they "make 'em." This is his first ring encounter for a stake. His only fightring encounter for a stake. His only fighting of any importance was a glove contest with Jack McGinty—in which he easily defeated McGinty—before the members of the Crib Club in Boston, and on another occasion fighting a draw with the same man before the same club.

The conditions under which they fought this morning were to a finish with skin gloves for a stake of $1,000, to be governed by Marquis of Queensberry rules.

Cushing is twenty-three years of age. He stands 5 feet 5 inches high and weighed 133 pounds. His seconds were Dan Gallagher and Jim Cleary, the two Brooklyn men who also looked after him in his hard fight with Hopper.

Gallagher is only twenty years old. He is a very bright and intelligent young man. He weighed one pound heavier and three inches taller than his opponent. His wauts were looked after by Tom Cullen and Mike Brennan.

P. J. Donohue was chosen referee and Louis Berte acted as watch-holder for both parties.

Denny made his appearance in white trunks, brown socks and the regulation black fighting shoes, while Cushing wore black trunks, flesh-colored stockings and tan-col-

About thirty speciators were present, and hour named above sighting commenced.

The first knockdown and first blood were won by Sweeney, after good work by both men. Betting ran high, this continued until a clinch occurred at the end of the fourth round and Sweeney It was pretty late when time was called for Cushing got in two good blows with his left on the face; he made a swing with his right, but missed, and in doing so he turned with his oack to beenly, who took advantage of it by getting his left home on the back of the head.

Gallagher sent his right and left with telling effect on the head, but Mike, was still there and returned the compliment with his left and right, landing on the chest and face. A clinch was followed by Denny making a pass for the neck, which he falled to land.

Cushing let go his right and left, again landing on the head and chest. Hard infighting followed, when Mike caught Gallagher full on the chin with his left as time was called.

Second Round—Cushing appeared to be very cool and determined, while Gallagher was just the opposite—very much excited. Gallagher again brought his left into play by leading on the face; Mike countered on the chest. Gallagher caught Mike around the neck with nas left arm, and kept hold while he pounded his face with the right. Cushing on breaking away at once negan to force the fighting for the first time. A great deal of discussion has taken place as to the exact time taken up in the evolutions, and last evening Manager Rosenquest gave a number of interested persons an opportunity of viewing the scene from the stage.

Everything was done to perfection. The "still alarm" came in the dead of night, when all the men were fast asleep. The gong was struck, the horses plunged from their stalls and the men hurried down from their cots. From the time the alarm was received to the moment when the horses were hitched up and all was ready for the start it was just six seconds, an unprecedented rate of speed. On the evening of the 31st of last January she left her home, telling her mother that she was going to see her uncle who lives in Pittsburg and that she would return home before bedtime.

She did not come home that night, but no particular anxiety was felt by her parents who supposed that she had been persuaded to stay at her uncle's.

But when she did not return the next day they became anxious, and when they learned that she had not been at her uncle's house the night before they became seriously alarmed.

In view of the strained relations existing oetween
Sir George Chetwynd and the Jockey Citto, growing out of Lord Durham's speech at the Gimerack Club dinner at York early last winter, which is the basis of a suit for slander brought 1y Sir George against Lord Durham, the success of Fullerton will cause no end of talk, for the running of Fullerton last year was, as many suppose, the basis of Lord Durham's charges that Sir George Chetwynd, his trainer, R. G. Sherrard, of Newmarket, and his rider, Charley Wood, were all guilty of Improper practices. Up to the present time Wood is the only sofferer, the Jockey Club having refused to grant him a license to ride.

So far this year Sir George Chetwynd has done well, his horse Pinniagenet having won the Liverpool Spring Handleap on the Rath uit. Fullerton four, was second twice, fourth in three others and unplaced in turee.
